

RECENTLY ORDAINED PRIESTS

The Office for Clergy provides ongoing formation opportunities designed specifically for priests in the early years of their priestly ministry.

These programs aim to build more consistent relations, solidarity, and priestly fellowship, both with their own classmates and with other recently ordained priests in the Philadelphia presbyterate; foster personal well being, continued spiritual growth, renewed priestly identity, theological updating and more developed pastoral skills; and provide a forum through which the particular formational concerns and interests of recently ordained priests might be addressed.
